OFFICIAL 2022 TOUR PROGRAM

WELCOME TO THE HARLEM GLOBETROTTERS 2022 "SPREAD GAME" WORLD TOUR.

The Globetrotters are more than just fancy dribbling, high-flying slam dunks, and long-range shots. The franchise has a long history of spreading game to a diverse audience spanning the entire world.

When the Globetrotters began in 1926, they played primarily in Chicago. Later, the team embarked on barnstorming tours across America, helping to spread game to towns and cities where the sport of basketball began to gain popularity. As high schools and colleges started to field basketball teams, the Globetrotters played at the highest level. The team's special brand of comedy entertained and engaged crowds, while the Globetrotters usually defeated their opponents by wide margins.

In 1940, the Globetrotters won the World Professional Basketball Tournament, a competition open to any organized club, including teams in professional leagues. Eight years later, the all-Black Globetrotters beat the all-white Minneapolis Lakers, recent champions of the Basketball Association of America. The following year, the Globetrotters won a rematch with the Lakers, which proved to be a key factor in integrating the US professional leagues. Globetrotters' standout Nat "Sweetwater" Clifton, was one of the first three black players to join the NBA.

As they grew in popularity, the Globetrotters embarked on tours throughout the world, including a famous trip to the Soviet Union in 1959. Throughout the decades, the Globetrotters have spread game to 124 different countries and territories in every corner of the globe. The team has literally spread game around the world, not only showcasing basketball, but also bringing countless smiles to their fans.

As television evolved, the Globetrotters' reach became even more profound, as the team spread game into households both nationwide and worldwide. The Globetrotters were a mainstay of American television throughout the 1960s, 70s, and 80s with a slew of variety shows, specials, animated programming and international games.

In modern times, the Globetrotters continue to spread game through over 400 games played worldwide each year, along with hospital visits, school visits, assignments from the US State Department, morale-boosting military tours, papal audiences, record-breaking feats, and a slew of social media.

The Harlem Globetrotters continue to endure as one of the world's most celebrated teams. They have influenced countless basketball players, inspired athletes in all sports, entertained celebrities, thrilled world leaders, and spread game to many millions of fans spanning the globe.

FRED ★ CURLY ★ NEAL

The 2022 Spread Game Tour is dedicated to Globetrotters Legend Fred “Curly” Neal. Curly played 22 seasons for the Globetrotters, wearing #22 for all those years. Curly passed away in March 2020, just days after the team completed its most recent US Tour.

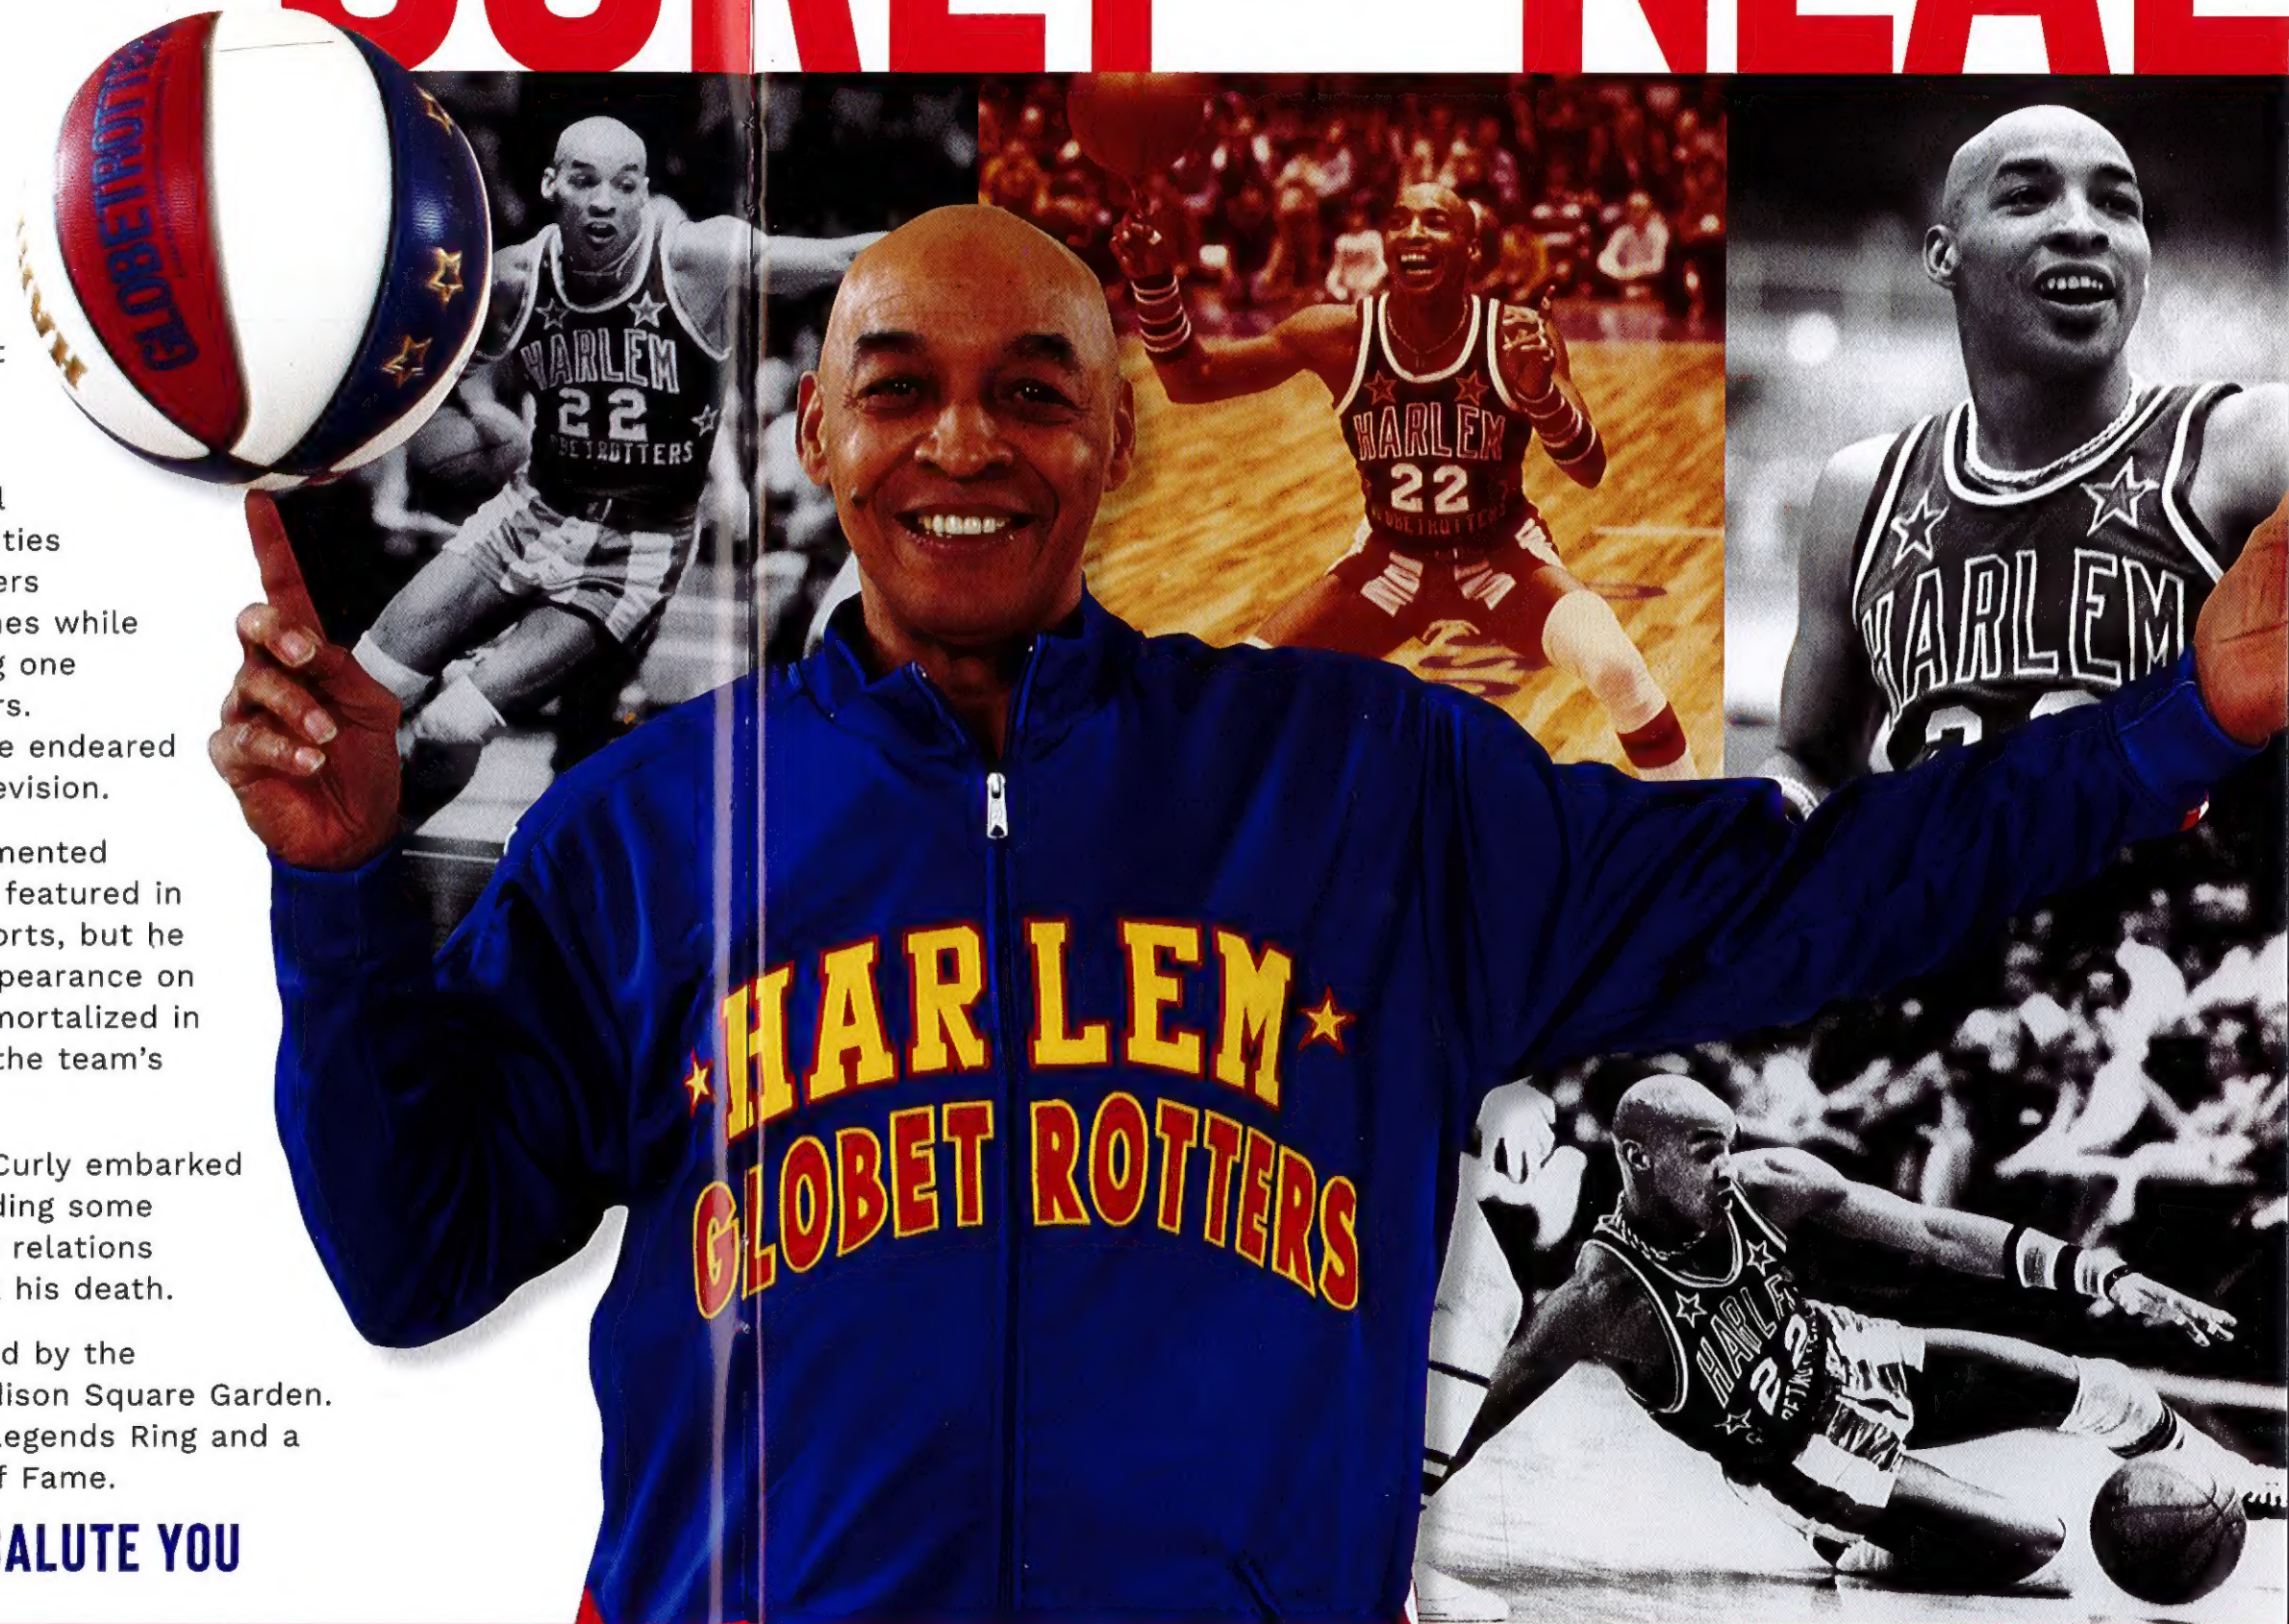

Born and raised in Greensboro, N.C., Curly joined the Globetrotters in 1963. His magical dribbling skills and long-range shooting abilities reinforced his status as one of the top players on the team. Curly played in over 6,000 games while traveling to 97 different countries, becoming one of the world’s most recognizable sports stars. His magnanimous smile and easygoing nature endeared him to fans, both in person and through television.

Curly’s legendary television appearances cemented his status as a global icon. Not only was he featured in several episodes of ABC’s Wide World of Sports, but he also starred in the Globetrotters’ special appearance on Gilligan’s Island. Furthermore, Curly was immortalized in animated form, both on Scooby Doo and in the team’s own animated series for Hana-Barbara.

Upon the end of his playing career in 1985, Curly embarked on a series of basketball-related jobs, including some NBA-related ventures. He served as a public relations representative for the Globetrotters up until his death.

On February 15, 2008, Curly’s #22 was retired by the Globetrotters in a halftime ceremony at Madison Square Garden. He is also a recipient of the Globetrotters’ Legends Ring and a member of the North Carolina Sports Hall of Fame.
